➔ Lifessence HGH+

Lifessence HGH+ is a product designed to slow down the aging process, and help combat the effects of aging. HGH is a naturally occurring hormone created in the human body by the pituitary gland in the brain. This hormone stimulates growth and cell production. As we age beyond our early twenties, our natural HGH levels begin to decline. By the time we reach the age of 60, our HGH levels have decreased by 80%. The main property of HGH is to maintain the health of the cardiovascular system and the body's vital organs. HGH also helps to increase energy levels, weight loss, muscle mass, strength, endurance and sexual vitality. As well as improving skin through wrinkle reduction, faster recovery, and calcium retention.

➔ What Makes Our Human Growth Hormone Superior

HGH injections are synthetic substance injections administered into your body 2-3 times a day. This method of HGH supplementation is not natural and is very expensive. Numerous negative side effects have also been reported with such HGH injection supplementation. HGH injections can cost as much as $25 per injection meaning that HGH injections can range from $700-$2,000 a month. With Lifessence HGH+, you can enjoy all the benefits of HGH without the synthetic substance which could potentially damage your body. In addition, Lifessence HGH+ is a ground breaking formulation that contains natural HGH stimulant ingredients along with Orovo's signature Top 10 SuperFoods, Super Antioxidants, mood enhancers and energy boosters. This is a product that everyone over the age of 20 should be taking to fight the aging process.

Check out our ingredient list and see why Lifessence HGH+ is the most powerful HGH supplement on the market today.

>> Mucuna (Mucuna Pruriens) is also known as the velvet bean and cowitch, it is known for containing a very powerful neurotransmitter precursor called L-Dopa.

L-Dopa is an Amino Acid that helps increase the production of HGH and breakdown fat. In addition, it is known to help increase libido for both men and women.

>> L-Arginine plays an integral part in several processes in the body, including cell division, wound healing, immunity to illness and the secretion of important hormones in the body. L-Arginine ultimately contributes to the secretion of human growth hormone (HGH) and stimulates the pituitary gland and pancreatic release of glucagon and insulin, all of which have an effect on several body mechanisms. In addition, L-arginine helps blood circulation.

>> L-Tyrosine is an amino acid that is obtained through the diet. It affects three important neurotransmitters involved in mood, mental function and sex drive. L-Tyrosine affects the function of HGH and helps increase energy.
